Georgia Chamber Adds Graphic Designer to Communications Staff

Atlanta – Michigan native Michael Olson has been added to the Georgia Chamber's communications department, with responsibility for planning and producing a growing list of state chamber publications.

A recent graduate of Michigan State University, where he received a Bachelors of Fine Art with an emphasis on graphic design, Olson has an impressive background. According to Valerie Crow, Vice President-Communications, "Michael has a creative flair, which is something all art departments seek. He joins the Georgia Chamber staff just in time to help plan and execute our 2008 publications."

Michael's hometown is Traverse City, Michigan, considered one of the most scenic areas in America. Growing up, he enjoyed a wide range of winter sports, but his main interests now are art, design, sports, music and movies.

The Georgia Chamber is the grassroots voice of business, vigorously representing its diverse membership in the public policy arena. As it constantly works to protect Georgia's enviable pro-business environment, the Georgia Chamber remains mindful of its mission to keep the state economically prosperous, educationally competitive and environmentally responsible.
